

New Skills Opens New Doors at Pacific Pallet, Inc.

Robert began working for Pacific Pallet, Inc., in April 2018. He started out in maintenance – sweeping, organizing, measuring and stacking wood. He excelled in that role and quickly expanded his skillset. In addition to maintenance work, Robert now feeds wood into an automated saw, and he helps his coworkers assemble pallets.

“I’ve really enjoyed watching Robert’s personal growth during his time with Pacific Pallet,” boasts The Arc Lane County Job Developer Scott Warner. “He has become much more social and confident, and it’s been great to see.”

Robert has already learned many new things while working for Pacific Pallet. Not only is he receiving a paycheck, Robert is gaining self-confidence, stamina, friendship, self-identity and new skills. Robert is looking forward to getting to know his coworkers better and attending the company barbecue this summer.
